Sociology

<https://catalog.utah.edu/#/courses?group=Sociology>

Criminology

<https://catalog.utah.edu/#/courses?group=Criminology>

Note: Only classes with a CRIM prefix are included in this link. Criminology students take courses from a variety of majors, most commonly sociology, but also political science and social work, so they are not limited to courses listed in this link,

Where can I find out what classes are offered each semester?

Talk to the undergraduate advisor or look at the upcoming course schedule online around the following dates

Spring schedule posted: late September
Summer schedule posted: early February
Fall schedule posted: early March

Detailed dates for each academic year: <https://registrar.utah.edu/academic-calendars/>

Beyond the Basics: Ways to get more out of your sociology or criminology major

Receive a Scholarship

We are able to provide students within the Department of Sociology a number of opportunities for financial support. These opportunities include the Community Scholarship, the Somos Scholarship, the Utah Correctional Association Scholarship and more. You can find more information about these opportunities and others by visiting here. Students studying within this department aren't limited to these financial opportunities alone. In fact, there are various forms of financial support that can be found both within the College of Social and Behavioral Science and at the university level. Furthermore, the department, College and University use an application program called Academic Works, which automatically pairs students with eligible scholarship opportunities. Finding and applying for scholarships has never been easier!

Do an Internship

Participating in an internship is a great way to bring the knowledge and skills you have gained in your coursework into a real-world situation. If you are interested in completing an internship, contact CSBS Internship Coordinator Dominique Blanc (dblanc@honors.utah.edu) to begin exploring internship opportunities related to your career goals and interests. Ideally, this should happen no later than two weeks before the beginning of the semester in which the student wishes to be enrolled in the internship. The internship coordinator may approve an internship arrangement that a student has identified or may assist the student in identifying a good internship match. The student can peruse the CSBS internship database (internships.csbs.utah.edu), using the drop-down menu to select those internships in your area of interest, and contact the point person at that organization to get things started. Finally, register for one of the department's internship courses listed below. To find out how an internship can fit into your degree program, contact the undergraduate advisor in the Sociology Department. Typically, if a student is enrolled for 3 credit hours, they will work approximately 100 hours per semester with a government agency or community organization. Internships are typically unpaid, but in some circumstances may be paid positions.

Sociology/Criminology offers 3 College of Social and Behavioral Science internships:

- SOC 4890 - Individual Internships in Sociology
- SOC 4891 - CSBS Internship: Criminology
- SOC 4892 - CSBS Internship: Diversity

Benefits of doing an Internship

As part of a concerted outreach to and integration with communities in need, the sociology department offers multiple opportunities for Community Engaged Learning, some of which are internships. Over the course of a semester, interns from the sociology department commit to 100 hours of social service agency. They set goals, develop a work plan, and carry out their duties under the supervision of an individual within their agency. Students must pro-actively obtain their internship, learn the requirements for participation within their agency, and then responsibly monitor themselves and their time throughout the semester. Our goal is to mirror job search, appropriate self-promotion, integration into a work environment, and goal completion within the parameters of an established agency.

Specific Details of the 3 College of Social and Behavioral Science internships

The CSBS Internship: Criminology (SOC 4891) connects students with an interest in criminology with agencies that serve the criminal justice system. Agencies such as Salt Lake City Police Department Victim Advocate Department and the Juvenile Peer Court Program allow our students real-life participation in criminology-related agencies. Students who pursue criminology internships often complete our criminology major or obtain sociology's criminology certificate as an enhancement to their degree. In addition to this, students are often offered jobs at the agencies in which they have interned.

CSBS Internship: Diversity (SOC 4892) are performed in agencies whose mission is to serve marginalized communities. The requirements for our agencies are that they “fit in the broad system of social support” and “utilize [our] student intern(s) to do real and measurable good with a community in need.” We have a list of community partners, such as the South Valley Services Domestic Violence Shelter and the Utah Pride Center, that we collaborate with. Students may also bring their own agencies to the internship coordinator, provided they can demonstrate that the agency they serve is specifically intended to improve quality of life or address gaps in need for communities at risk. The sociology department also offers a diversity certificate as a degree enhancement, and many diversity interns pursue that certificate.

Our internships have an element of social justice; we intend that our students will take their educational privilege and lend it to the work of equality and social support. In so doing, we hope to not only serve marginalized communities but also to influence future leaders and participants in our democratic system. The humanizing work of serving at-risk communities has the potential to encourage nuanced thought about the opportunities that are extended to and withheld from individuals in need, as well as the structure and efficacy of the social support system.

Recent support through the College of Social and Behavioral Science has allowed our internship program to expand and reflect the areas of emphasis within our department such as public health and environmental sociology. Among all internships on offer at present, the sociology department has partnerships with over 50 agencies. However, more and diverse agencies are greatly welcome, particularly at this time as we purposefully expand internship participation. Research shows that internship opportunities are extremely beneficial to graduating students as they enter the job market, and we intend to help our students be as marketable as possible. We also invite alumni and community members to offer ideas and opportunities for internships that fit within the goals of the sociology department internship programs.

Participate in the Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (UROP)

The Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (UROP) provides undergraduate students and mentors the opportunity to work together on research or creative projects.

UROP provides a stipend and educational programming for students who assist with a faculty member's research or creative project or who carry out a project of their own under the supervision of a faculty member. Students may apply for UROP any semester and may be eligible for a one-semester renewal. UROP awardees are hired as temporary, part-time UROP Participants by the Office of Undergraduate Research and are paid $1,200 (effective Summer 2019) for 120 hours of research or creative work during the semester.

For additional details, application details and deadlines, see:
<https://our.utah.edu/urop/>

Earn an Honors Degree

Did you know that the Department of Sociology has an honors track for Sociology and Criminology majors admitted to the University Honors College? The honors track in Sociology may be especially useful for students who are focused on graduate school by helping them engage in advanced research. Students completing the Sociology honors track will graduate with an Honors Bachelor of Science (H.B.S.) or Honors Bachelor of Arts (H.B.A.) in sociology. Students completing the criminology honors track will graduate with an Honors Bachelor of Science (H.B.S.) or Honors Bachelor of Arts (H.B.A.)

Benefits include:

- developing advanced research skills
- improving writing skills
- becoming an expert in a specific sociological topic
- achieving a signature educational experience
- enhancing your application to graduate programs

To earn the Honors Degree:

1. Gain admission to the Honors College
2. Meet with the Honors College advisor for CSBS students
3. Meet with the honors faculty advisor in sociology (the current undergraduate program director in sociology) or criminology (the current undergraduate program director in criminology)
4. Work towards completing the honors degree and sociology/criminology major course requirements
5. Maintain a 3.5 GPA with a minimum grade of a B in all departmental honors courses in sociology
6. Attend an Honors College thesis information session
7. Find an eligible sociology/criminology faculty member to supervise the research and writing of the thesis
8. Complete a thesis (see the thesis guidelines in the next section)
9. Receive approval on your thesis from your faculty advisor, the departmental honors faculty advisor and dean of the Honors College

Curriculum Requirements

To earn an H.B.A. or H.B.S. in sociology or criminology, students must satisfactorily complete 7 approved honors courses and an honors thesis.

- 4 honors core courses
- 3 honors electives
  - We recommend, but do not require you take one sociology honorstrack course as one of your honors electives.
    - Honors sociology courses are specifically approved graduate - level courses offered each semester.
    - These courses meet with the regularly scheduled graduate classes and introduce honors students to the kind of advanced research skills explored at the graduate-level.
- 1 thesis course
  - One semester of the honors thesis course, SOC 4998 Honors Thesis 1 or CRIM 4999 Honors Thesis 1
    - Prerequisites: SOC 3111 Research Methods or other approved research methods course
  - Your thesis advisor might also recommend you take a second honors thesis course, SOC 4999 or CRIM 4999 Honors Thesis 2
    - Prerequisite: SOC/CRIM 4998 Honors Thesis 1

For additional details check <https://soc.utah.edu/undergraduate/sociology-honors-descriptive-page-main-09-04-2015.php>

Complete a Senior Thesis

Do you want to go to graduate school? Would you like to get experience doing research?

Conduct an independent research project under the guidance of a faculty mentor. This is typically done over two semesters during your junior or senior year resulting in a research paper. Students can either develop and conduct their own research projects or do independent research on a faculty member's project. More information about the senior thesis can be found in our thesis guidelines!

Earn an Undergraduate Research Scholar Designation (URSD)

The Undergraduate Research Scholar Designation (URSD) recognizes a student's commitment to their development as a researcher during their undergraduate career. The URSD appears in the awards section of the transcripts of graduating students. URSD awardees receive a white research cord from the Office of Undergraduate Research to wear at convocation and commencement.

(PLEASE NOTE: Effective Fall 2019-in order to fulfill the URSD Presentation and Publication requirements, ALL students will be required to present at the Undergraduate Research Symposium and publish in the Undergraduate Research Journal).

1. Two semesters of research – Two semesters of research with a UofU faculty research mentor (if not done through UROP or SPUR [Summer Program in Undergraduate Research], the student's faculty mentor signs a verification form certifying that two semesters of research were completed).
2. Presentation – Present your research at the Undergraduate Research Symposium. This event is held every spring in the Student Union. (Presentations at UCUR/NCUR in 2018 or before will fulfill this requirement. For all other presentations, please contact our@utah.edu).
3. Publication – Publish your research in the University of Utah Undergraduate Research Journal. This publication requirement ensures that students engage in the valuable reflective process of creating an enduring record of their undergraduate research experience. (For all other publications, please contact our@utah.edu.)

\*PLEASE READ: Students must have completed all requirements associated with their involvement in other Office of Undergraduate Research programs in order to be eligible for the URSD. This includes the submission of final reports for UROP, Small Grants, and Travel Grants, in addition to any other program requirements.*

To Apply for the URSD

Apply during the semester in which you will graduate by completing the online URSD APPLICATION FORM. At the END of each semester, The Office of Undergraduate Research will review the applications submitted and forward the names of qualifying students to the Registrar's office. It may take up to 60 days for the designation to appear on the transcript.

For more info, check out <https://our.utah.edu/for-students/undergraduate-research-scholar-designation-ursd/>

Become an Undergraduate Teaching Assistant (TA)

How does a student become a TA?

A student can become a TA if they demonstrate excellence in a particular class and their professor is open to having undergraduate TAs. During a course, a student may learn of the professor working with TAs. If interested, the student should contact the professor and see if there are any TA slots open for the following semester or year. Since these slots are limited, the student should check in early. The professor will inform the student of when TA meetings will be held. Not all faculty regularly use undergraduate teaching assistants, but if you are interested just ASK!

What do they do?

Undergraduate TAs normally attend class like other students, taking notes and keeping up with reading. At the same time, they usually attend a separate meeting with the professor devoted to learning about pedagogy and participating as an advisor to the class. In this regard, TAs may explore academic work on pedagogical styles, create their own class syllabi, and advise on the grading of essays, papers, and exams.

Declare a Double Major

You can double major in sociology and criminology!

Housing two majors in one department offers students a unique opportunity to seamlessly major in both! The Sociology and Criminology majors complement each other as sociological concepts and interests are critical to criminological study and vice versa. For example, Criminology students with an understanding of race, class, gender, social structure (just to name a few sociological interests) will ultimately make better informed criminologists. Moreover, having a double-major offers a larger breadth of career opportunities or graduate school options upon graduation. As a double-major within the same department, certain required and elective classes can potentially count in both, allowing you to complete both of your majors efficiently. See your advisor for more details!

Earn a Diversity Certificate

Understand the causes and consequences of diversity and inequality! Students study the social impacts of race, ethnicity, class, and gender through multiple perspectives and contemporary theories. The certificate must be officially declared with the sociology advisor. You will be required to fill out a Certificate Declaration

form and have it approved. Keep in mind, the diversity certificate is not a major or a minor. It is an emphasis on your degree. Open to students of any major!

Seek support from the Dean of Students

The Office of the Dean of Students is dedicated to being a resource to students through support, advocacy, involvement, and accountability. With a goal of nurturing the development of self-determination, they coordinate the Student Accountability processes, serve as a support for students facing challenges to their success as students, and assist with the interpretation of University policy and regulations. Their staff are ready to assist students, staff, faculty, family members, and community members with student questions, issues and concerns.

The University of Utah is a large place with many sub-communities throughout our campus. The Office of the Dean of Students can provide students with assistance in navigating the U environment and connecting them with appropriate resources. Students who have questions about interpreting the Student Code, communicating with faculty members, or seeking guidance on where to seek petitions for an exception to a policy may benefit from the advice of the Dean of Students' staff.

Please stop by Union Suite 270 or call 801-581-7066 to set up an appointment.

Tips for Student Success from the Dean of Students

- Attend class - consider this part of the requirements for your "job as a student."
- Check your email frequently, especially your UMail account.
- Get to know your professors. They are great resources for academic assistance, career advice, and future letters of recommendation.
- Take care of your health. Sleep, exercise, and stress management are important.
- Learn about campus resources available to you and take advantage of them - it is okay to ask for help.
- Manage your time well to include academics, work, social life, leadership, and service.
- Report emergencies and safety issues to the police (801-585-COPS) - if you see something, say something. Download the free "UHeads Up" app to submit reports and have emergency procedures readily available on your smartphone.
- Get involved with a student club or organization.

- Complete the Federal Application for Federal Student Aid every year. This is not just for loans, but includes eligibility for grants and scholarships. More information is available on the Financial Aid & Scholarships website.
- Protect your privacy and contact information on social networking sites.
- Keep an open mind and intentionally seek out new experiences. Attend an arts or athletic event on campus, listen to a symposium or lecture from a different discipline than your major, introduce yourself to fellow students in your courses who you do not already know.
- Strive to be respectful and civil in your communications with others. College is all about exposure to different viewpoints. You don't have to change your position or stance, but respectfully allow space for other perspectives to exist in our community.

You can also seek help from the Student Success Advocates

Click here to meet your SSA: <https://ssa.utah.edu/meet-your-student-success-advocates.php>

The mission of Student Success Advocates is to support students in making the most of their University of Utah experience. As caring, knowledgeable professionals, Student Success Advocates engage and empower undergraduate students in exploring and clarifying their interests and goals, overcoming personal and academic challenges, and connecting to campus resources and opportunities. Our holistic, individualized, mobile approach allows us to meet students right where they are.

Student Success Advocates assist you with identifying goals, developing empowerment strategies, and planning your engagement with high-impact educational practices. Student Success Advocates provide you with tools and strategies to help you succeed academically and, ultimately, professionally. Student Success Advocates meet you where you are, literally, anywhere on campus. We also meet you where you are in your life to support you in discovering what being in college means to you and help you connect to programs, offices, and initiatives that will enhance the value of your college degree, add meaning to your University of Utah experience, and increase your marketability after graduation.

Be aware of additional student resources

Victim-Survivor Advocates

Victim-Survivor Advocates provide free, confidential and trauma-informed support services to students, faculty, and staff who have experienced interpersonal violence (i.e. domestic and dating violence, sexual assault and rape, sexual harassment, stalking, etc.)

<https://wellness.utah.edu/victim-survivor-advocacy/>

Women's Resource Center

The Women's Resource Center (WRC) at the University of Utah serves as the central resource for educational and support services for women. Honoring the complexities of women's identities, the WRC facilitates choices and changes through programs, counseling, and training grounded in a commitment to advance social justice and equality.

<https://womenscenter.utah.edu/>

Dream Center

The Dream Center in the Office of Undergraduate Studies works holistically with undocumented students and mixed-status families from college access to graduation. The Dream Center (1) engages in specialized college outreach and access strategies, (2) provides individualized advising and scholarship support for current and future University of Utah undocumented students, (3) promotes campus-wide advocacy and trainings for University of Utah students, faculty, staff and administration, and (4) increases community-wide awareness of policies affecting current and future University of Utah undocumented students.
