Credit Hours: 3 credit hours

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
Prerequisite: SOC 1010. Fulfills Diversity.

This course is an historical, theoretical, and ultimately, sociological exploration of race, ethnicity, class, and gender as axes of inequality in the United States, while recognizing that these axes are also fundamental sources of identity and community. Materials examine the complex interaction between personal experiences and social structures as students explore how individuals carry varying degrees of penalty and privilege depending on their position along axes of races, ethnicity, and gender in a complex matrix that affects everyone in society. Students will be invited to explore the ways that people experience and respond to the matrix, that is, structures of racial/ethnic, class, and gender differences, and the ways that people help to reinforce and reshape those structures.

Objectives
The composition of our population is changing rapidly. With this in mind, this class will provide the adult learners with information on the history, culture and major issues surrounding racial and ethnic groups in the United States. Some of the ethnic and racial groups that will be discussed are as follows: Irish Americans, German Americans, Native Americans, Hispanic Americans, African Americans, and Japanese Americans.

Required Textbook – Racial and Ethnic Minorities by Richard Schaeffer

Suggested Reading

Teaching and Learning Methods – This class will be an active on line class that will include power point lectures and the discussion board. Students will explore important empirical work in the field (including readings by Shihandeh and Barranco; Nadadur; Dozier; Marshall, Read, and Je’nam; and Omori and Smith to name a few).

Students will engage in posing responses to weekly discussions. Modules will include asking students to complete weekly lessons based on the weekly topic. Lectures will be posted on line for students to listen and download.

Exams – (2) There will be 2 multiple choice exams given this semester. Test are taken on line. There is a 60 minute time limit for each test. Test one will have a total of 50 multiple choice questions and Test Two will have a total of 50 multiple choice questions.

12 Critical Analysis papers – Due weekly

Please summarize the article in your own words and tell how it applies to the chapter. Use two terms and theories from the chapter to explain the article and how it applies to the theories that you select. Each individual critical analysis paper should be a 2 page summary and analysis. (12 point font – double space) Submit the summaries via canvas under assignment. Here are the guidelines for the paper that you write.

Section One - Summarize the journal article in your own words
Section Two - Select two theories or two terms from the textbook and tell how they apply to the article
Section Three – Evaluation – evaluate the research and tell if it reflects a real life issues concerning race, class or ethnicity.
Section Four – Give me your personal opinion of the research article. Was the researcher clear in stating their research questions?

No Final Exam will be given in this class. All work due on April 25, 2012
What were the findings in the research?

Virtual E-Portfolio Group Assignment

This is a 21st Century skill that you will need in the work environment. Working with a group from a distance and producing a product is a valuable skill to develop.

1. E-Portfolio Project  Due April 6, 2012– There will be 5 to 6 students in a group. The group will be given a topic within the class. The e-portfolio should be turned in via web ct under discussions. There should be approximately 20 pages done using power point. The Portfolio should include the following:

2. Table of Content

3. Reflection page – Each student at the beginning of the semester turn in – what you know about the topic before you begin your research. E-mail individual papers to the instructor on WebCt. Put on the subject line – Reflection page 1.
4. 10 different research articles from journals – summarized and explained how they connect with the topic you have chosen. You will use sociological tools for the “critical scrutiny” of the articles. You can interject your opinion of the article but it must be grounded in sound, sociological reasoning and reflect critical thinking skills.

5. 5 different charts and tables – these should not be copied from the web. These charts should give information about the topic – explanations should be at the end of the chart and table – These tables should be based on information you have researched. You are creating your own tables and charts based on the information you have read.

6. 5 different Book summaries – Find 5 books about your topic read the books – summarize the book and tell how it applies to the topic. How did this book help you understand the topic? Do you agree with the author? Do you disagree with the author? You cannot use the same book for your book review due in April.

7. Each student turns in a reflection paper describing what you learned at the end of the research for this particular topic. What did you learn that you did not know? How will this information help you with your future employment? E-mail the last reflection paper to the instructor using web ct.

Due dates for the e-portfolio group project -

Students will be place into groups by the third week of class. The instructor will e-mail the group members. (Jan. 21) Groups will meet on line under discussions – and via e-mail. The first assignment is to select a group leader. The group leader will e-mail me by (Feb. 4).

Individual students will e-mail me their reflection papers by (Feb. 4)

Group topic will be identified by the group on (Feb 11)

On April 4 – Groups will select their presentation date for wimba.

E-mail me on the date and time for the presentation. If there are a few group members who cannot be present for their presentation, but the group leader indicates they worked on the project no points will be taken from the individual. However, that individual has to provide a valid excuse for not being present during the presentation.

No Final Exam will be given in this class. The Virtual E-portfolio group project will replace the third exam.

Discussions –

Your discussions responses need to be at least two paragraphs. Please post your response based on the subject with support from research articles. Do not post your opinions. Each student needs to respond to one other student weekly in the class.

Please introduce yourself to the class. Indicate your major and future work plans.

Discussion threads, e-mails and wimba meetings are all considered to be equivalent to classrooms, and student behavior within those environments shall conform to the Student Code. Specifically:

- Posting Photos or comments that would be off topic in a classroom are still off topic in an online posting
- Off color language and photos are never appropriate
- using angry or abusive language is called “flaming”, is not acceptable and will be dealt with according to the Student Code.
