Course description

The purpose of this course is to provide an opportunity to students to learn about issues of diversity in our society through practical experience. The issues of diversity are often related but not limited to race/ethnicity, gender and social class. Diversity is a central part of our society and of the discipline of sociology. Diversity internship will help students to apply the concept of diversity that you have learned at classroom to a real world. Students are expected to work approximately 120 hours (unpaid) to receive 3 upper division credit hours. To enroll in the course, students are required to have taken some sociology courses on issues of diversity. If you are unsure whether you have taken such a course, please discuss with the instructor. There will be no regularly scheduled class meetings. But we will meet in class twice: at the beginning of the semester for course orientation and the end of the semester for presentations (time and location TBA). No student is required to participate in a placement that creates a religious, political and/or moral conflict for the student.

Enrollment

Select an agency. As of April 7, 2013, the instructor has the following agencies on the list (More agencies will be added to the list before the semester):

Maliheh Free Clinic (free health care services for the uninsured)

YWCA of SLC (various services for women who experienced domestic violence)

Asian Association of Utah (resettlement services for refugees)

Students are also welcome to make an own arrangement with an agency outside of the instructor's list. The Sociology Department maintains the list of potential agencies (a list is attached at the end of the syllabus). If you choose an agency outside of the instructor's list, you are required to find a faculty sponsor (other than the instructor) who will willingly advise you. Securing a placement, arranging the internship and finding a faculty sponsor (if you choose an agency outside of the instructor's list) is the responsibility of the students. Students must submit a contract form and a liability waiver prior to internship.

Faculty and student responsibilities

All students are expected to maintain professional behavior in the classroom setting, according to the Student Code, spelled out in the Student Handbook. Students have specific rights in the classroom as detailed in Article III of the Code. The Code also specifies proscribed conduct (Article XI) that involves cheating on tests, plagiarism, and/or collusion, as well as fraud, theft, etc. Students should read the Code carefully and know they are responsible for the content. According to Faculty Rules and Regulations, it is the faculty responsibility to enforce responsible classroom behaviors, beginning with verbal warnings and progressing to dismissal from class and a failing grade. Students have the right to appeal such action to the Student Behavior Committee.

The student must understand and be familiar with the University of Utah Student Code <http://www.admin.utah.edu/ppmanual/8/8-10.html>.

The failure to comply with the student code, including academic misconduct, may result in the serious consequence such as failure in the course, and/or expulsion from the university.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Statement: The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services and activities for people with disabilities. If you will need accommodations in the class, reasonable prior notice needs to be given to the Center for Disability Services (CDS), 162 Union Building, 581-5020 (V/TDD).
